SLOAN'S CASE ON TRIAL.

Famous Jockey Demands $40,000 Damages from French Jockey Club.

PARIS, Nov. 23.-The suit of Tod Sloan the American jockey, against the French Jockey Club came up in the Civil Court today before a large attendance of sportsmen and jockeys. Sloan claims $40,000 damages for being ruled off the turf in connection with Count de Sain-Phalle's Rose de Mai winning the race for the Prix de Diane at the Chantilly races May 17, 1903. The case is attracting much attention as it involves the Jockey Club's sole control of the turf administration. Maitre Labori began the presentation of Sloan's case by protesting against the decision. The main point of M. Labori's argument was that Sloan being in this case neither the trainer nor the jockey, but merely employed to gallop horses, was not subject to the jurisdiction of the club. Maitre Mennesson maintained that the Jockey Club's action was legitimate. The case was adjourned for a MUNCIE, Ind., Nov. 23 .- Burt Whiteley, proprietor of the Whiteley stock farm, owner of Edith W., Mabel Onward and other fast steppers, has returned from the East, where he purchased several brood mares and promising colts. In the new string is Almetta, who has a record of The Whiteleys say they will have the best string they have ever had for the gas belt and grand circuits next season.

Belle Meade Horse Sale.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 23 .- The dispersal sale at Belle Meade began to-day and about six hundred buyers were present. Twenty-eight horses, including brood mares and geldings, went under the hammer and the prices ranged between $25 and $360.

Administrator Richardson said he expected to be able to preserve the estate intact and that it would be run as a stock farm but on a smaller scale. None of the stallions was offered to-day.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23 .- The contest between Bob Fitzsimmons and George Gardner for the light heavy-weight championship will be brought off at the Mechanics' Pavilion in this city Wednesday night under the auspices of the Yosemite Club. The men will meet at 168 pounds, and both are said to be in the pink of condition and confident of victory, although the older man, Fitzsimmons, is at present the favorite in the betting at 10 to 6. He is in hard training at his quarters at Alameda and yesterday boxed eight rounds men a each with a series of big fellows, while Mrs. Fitzsimmons's held the watch. Today he did less strenuous work.

Eddie Graney, who will referee the coming battle, after a trip to Alameda to watch Fizsimmons at practice, said: "His physical condition is perfect, so far as I can judge. He is big, strong and confident and promises to make the battle short, sharp George Gardner has stopped his boxing practice, but was on the road this morning and punched the bag for half an hour this afternoon. He says he feels he has suffi-cient strength to meet any fight Fitzsimmons may put up, and, therefore, it is un-necessary for him to continue heavy training. Moreover, it would be a dangerous thing to slug with his sparring partner when the battle which means so much to him is so near. "The fact that Fitzsimmons is a hot favorite in the betting does not disturb me a bit," said Gardner to-day. "I expect it. About all I can say is that if Fitzsimmons wins he must win in quick order. WHEN LOVE IS FELT.

College Professor Decides that Three Years Is the Lowest Age.

WORCESTER, Mass., Nov. 23.-A table of the ages of love in men and women has been compiled by Professor Bell, a fellow in Clark University and formerly an instructor at the Valparaiso, Ind., normal school. He has reached the conclusion that neither sex is safe from Cupid's darts after it has reached the age of three years. cases and his figures go to prove that the maturity of a woman's heart is reached at twenty-two and a man's at twenty-four.

Tad Shideler Is Troubled with Weak Eyes and Others Are Complaining.

Notwithstanding all reports to the contrary the M. T. H. S. eleven is in poor physical condition for the bruising battle with Shortridge which is to be played at Washington Park next Thursday. Tad Shideler is troubled with weak eyes and several of the other players are suffering from bruises received during practice. Coach Reibel has worked hard to develop a winning eleven in a short space of time for the blacksmiths and should be given great credit for the amount of good he has ione them, but the members of the team, with a few exceptions, have not shown the proper spirit.

Roy Pike, of Indiana University, has been selected by the managers of the two teams as official referee. French Bark Wrecked.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23 .- The French bark Francols Copre struck the rocks on the eastern side of Tomales bay and was wrecked on Friday night. Four of the survivors floated ashore on drift wood, and are now safe at a ranch near Marshall. It is rumored that two bodies have been washed ashore. Nine sailors were picked up at sea.

JOHN FARSON SPEAKS.

(CONCLUDED FROM FIRST PAGE.) ple. During the last few years we have witnessed a marked change in the attitude of our church leaders toward free thought among its lay members. You know our detractors have sometimes referred to us as an oligarchical church-a church -governed by a few-a church in the hands of its bishops and presiding elders. But that is no longer true. Our conferences now admit lay delegates, and with the free discussion of church affairs which has characterized our body in the last few years, all the sting has been taken away from such criticism, and to-day we are as truly democrats as our friends, the Congregationalists and Presbyterians. "But these new opportunities have heaned upon us new responsibilities. If the policy of the church is no longer a subject for a discussion solely in the preachers' meetings, where is it to be discussed? If the lay members have a voice in it, where is The first games of the season of the Drug- that voice to be heard? Perhaps it is right that Club alleys and have the following games | they should be closed against many of these questions, that they should be in the hands of a censor, so to speak. However that is, it remains that they do not fully voice the thoughts and feelings of the mass of our church-going people. THE PRESS.

"The church press and the secular press bear a totally different relation to their readers. Our secular press papers are open to the nearly unlimited criticism and discussion of any one who cares to have a voice, even if the positions taken are most untenable, and even where they are opposed to the heliefs of a great majority of the readers and hostile to the policy of the paper itself. imit can find no better place for its friends and enemies to urge their opposing claims. If we have questions of the policy of our church toward the social life of its members, here is the place to discuss them. Indeed there is no better forum for the interchange of our ideas than a social organization of our church people.

"One of the best results of these gatherings is the opportunity it gives for preachers and laymen to meet with each other. Has it ever occurred to you that we laymen do not often get a chance to look at our preachers in the same way we look at other men? Even when we entertain them in our own homes it is not easy to rid ourselves of a certain quasi ecclesiastical feeling. We hardly meet as men, but rather as pastor and parishioner and the view we have of our beloved but dignified pastor in the church socials, where he is the only cleri-cal member of the gathering, and all the more clerical because he is the only one, no one will say that we see him there as he really is. Here we meet in a totally different way. Here we are not pastor and people. We are simply men, brothers in a comigon brotherhood SOCIAL UNION IN CHICAGO. "If I may be allowed to speak to you of the workings of our Social Union in Chicago I would speak of things it has done in a practical way. In Chicago we have many poor churches and you must have them here. The Chicago Methodist Social Union found many of our churches saddled with an enormous debt, aggregating some $300,000, and believing that the feeling of Christian brotherhood could not reach a very exalted state so long as those of us who are able to render aid allowed these churches to struggle on with this mass of debt, instituted a movement which resulted in the raising of a fund which cleared this debt away.

"It is easy to make such a union a social club for the well-to-do members of our denominations. Do not bind yourselves with such restrictions that yours shall become merely a rich men's club. Some of the best brains and some of the most companionable and social natures are to be found among our members who sit in the out-of-the-way pews and would sit in better ones if they could afford to pay for them. "Finally, let your social union strive to make religion and religious services seem to be the beautiful things they really are, If our young people could only appreciate this. It is well worth the question-Are we, by strained ideas of what duty consists of, making the service of the Lord seem an ungrateful service, a hard service, a renunciation of delights for which the God of nature has implanted in us keen desire? Are we not failing to grasp as fully as we might the great truth that God has placed us in a world of beautiful flowers that delight the eye and gratify every sense, and that he desires us to pluck these flowers and not spurn them and trample them under our feet? Christ said that He came that we might have life and have it more abundantly. Let us live abundant lives, opening to ourselves every avenue through which healthful pleasure and mental and spiritual profit may come to us. Let us make our example and our teaching so clear that the young men and women, so many of whom are leaving our church and flocking to other denominations, may see that the influence of the Methodist Church, while steadfastly fighting all that comes of evil, weicomes the proper exercise of every God given right and privilege we possess.

JUDGE HORTON TALKS. Mr. Farson was followed by Judge Oliver H. Horton, president of the Social Union in Chicago, who spoke on the "Mission of the Social Union." Judge Horton said one frequently hears that the Methodist Church is hot a friend of the workingman, but that he wished to say that if there ever was a church that is a friend of the workingman, it is the Methodist Church. He also said that he thought it the duty of the Methodist Church to take care of ministers who have become superannuated and to keep them from want.

The Rev. Dr. Mitchell was the last speaker and spoke on "The Mission of a Methodist "The mission of a Methodist is," said he, "to be the avowed enemy of the liquor business and do all in his power to stamp it out.
